Maths in Art

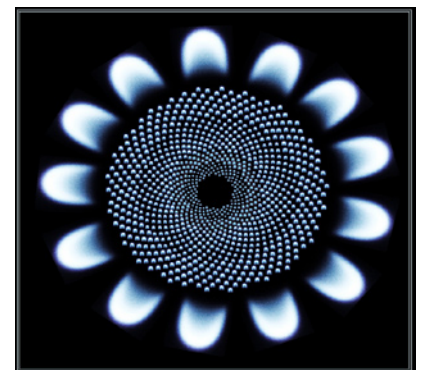

1 - 2 December 2010

In this workshop the children will explore some of the ways that mathematics relates to real life. For example, what is the magic of the golden ratio, what does nature have in common with the Fibonacci number sequence and what kinds of geometrical patterns do we find most pleasing?

Mathematics will come alive through research, data collection, measurement and investigation. As the children uncover some intriguing mathematical mysteries they will also discover a creative and philosophical side to mathematics that they may never have thought existed!
